

David Auerbach PhD

Senior Director for Research, Massachusetts Health Policy Commission

David Auerbach is a health economist and has been the Senior Director for Research at the Massachusetts Health Policy Commission since 2016. He graduated with a PhD in Health Policy from Harvard University in 2002 and has since worked at the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) and the RAND Corporation before coming to the HPC in 2014. His work has broadly focused on topics in health economics and policy such as the healthcare workforce, healthcare cost drivers, risk adjustment, and the role of financial incentives in healthcare delivery.