

Kevin Close

Corporate Vice President

Intel Corporation

Kevin is currently a Corporate Vice President with Intel Corporation where he is responsible for ensuring the alignment of Intel's global compensation and benefit programs support Intel's business strategy, reinforce a pay-for-performance culture, and attract and retain the best talent.

Kevin has extensive compensation and benefits experience across a variety in industries including technology, healthcare and professional services. Most recently, he served as vice president of total rewards for Aptiv PLC. He previously held similar roles leading total rewards for McKesson Corporation and EMC Corporation. Kevin earned his bachelor's degree in management from Bentley College in Massachusetts.

Kevin resides in Boston. Outside of work, Kevin enjoys traveling and all things outdoors, especially playing on the water. Kevin is an ardent fan of live music and all of Boston's sports teams.